

“Moving Forward: A Horizon of Opportunity”

This Topic Will Bring “Awareness and Discovery”

Asking The Question!

“What is the Larger Horizon of Opportunity, and How do we want to meet it?”

In this webinar we will be covering “Human Dynamics” training from an "Ontological Perspective". What that looks like for You!

Business Consulting / Human Relations / Ontological Coaching Services

- Leadership Performance with Executives and Teams
- Organizational Effectiveness
- Public Relations Mastery
- Brand, Marketing and Sales
- Transforming The Way We Communicate Our Vision!

My programs incorporate both time-tested and cutting-edge methods of business visioning, leadership performance, organizational effectiveness - training and coaching together to meet the specific needs of a client: Awareness for undertaking positive change at the individual, group and organizational levels; Knowledge sharing - Listening - Conversations that support a culture of Accountability, Results, Trust and other attributes of the desired change.

As a Consultant/Ontological Coach, I work with my clients incorporating an ontological coaching methodology that digs deeply into what they truly care about, their core values personally and professionally. I work with the individual that you are, the way you "see, move and act", opening you up to have a greater number of choices for action - that resonates with you, your community, your organization and government, and the planet!

An "Ontological" approach is taken when working with individuals and teams. As I am a 2005/06 graduate from the oldest and best Ontological Coaching Training program in the world <https://newfieldnetwork.com/> Along with my business education and experience within the Tourism Industry as well as promoting my own consulting/coaching business since 2005 internationally, the diverse experience working with the multicultural communities here in Canada and other countries - the uniqueness of public relations as well as with the perspective of a client - this combination of expertise has rewarded me with not only having an understanding of what the client wants, in the quality of service, but as a Consultant and Coach know exactly what to provide with exceptional results including traditions, customs and culture in mind, wherein lies my passion.

This stems from my diverse background in Leadership within the Tourism Industry for 11 years, and working with multicultural communities who including our First Nations; Indigenous and Northern Affairs Canada. Offering new solutions in new ways of doing things. My passion lies in connecting my work to diverse models from ancient practices, history and from knowledge to wisdom in working with others. My company enables individuals and teams to produce the results they desire effectively. The philosophy of the company is to work with the whole of the human being to enhance the leader within him/herself to create a new vision, through self-initiative and mission focus.

A highly skilled, talented and professional consultant offering over 15 years of diverse experience in utilizing Business Intellect, Strategic Insight, and Dynamic Leadership Skills in facilitation/training, team enhancement with professional and personal coaching. I have a proven track record of developing and delivering programs in professional development (Leadership/Marketing/Career) with organizational effectiveness to individuals and teams to consistently exceed a target. Accredited with The International Coaching Federation. Proven ability to interact effectively with people of diverse nationalities and comfortable working in a multi-cultural environment.
